STAT

1. Both proposals contained in references B and C have merit and seem to be feasible. The [] proposal is quite detailed and appears to be excellent. Although the [] proposal is fairly general, we feel that the problem is thoroughly understood.

2. Either company could manufacture a satisfactory printer. Since this is essentially a matter for your final determination, we hesitate in recommending one proposal over the other. However we would call your attention to the urgency of need for this service so that the earliest date of delivery by either manufacturer might constitute an important factor in your decision.
